Bon Voyage with Dancers At Sea!

This 10-night voyage will take you into Alaska's majestic Inside Passage. Sail past towering tidewater glaciers in Glacier Bay National Park and enjoy time ashore in Juneau and Sitka.

Watch whales while having a leisurely stroll along the shoreline. Soak up the quaint energy in small towns like Juneau and Sitka. Watch seaplanes transporting goods to and from Skagway. All from the comfort and elegance of a true ocean liner.

No matter how you choose to spend your time, each morning you'll be dazzled by the sheer beauty of Alaska, whether you prefer the native villages and towns or a hike through the Alaskan wilderness. Perhaps the classic elegance of the Queen Elizabeth is more your cup of tea. These will be days and dance nights you will never forget!

Vancouver, Canada

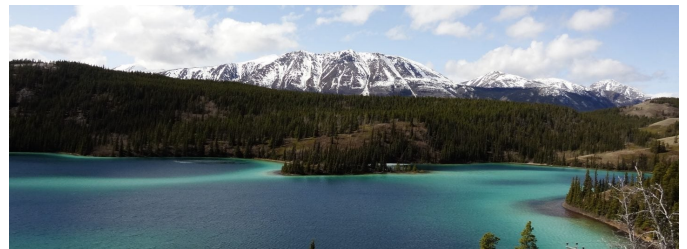

Vancouver, Canada

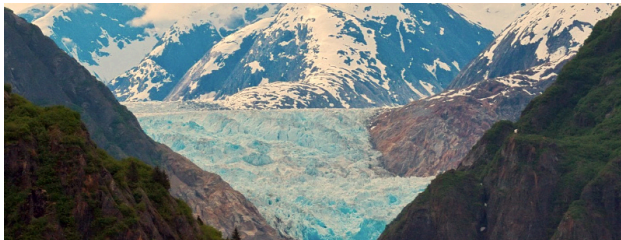

Stunning scenery - such as Grouse Mountain and Capilano Suspension Bridge - and incredible wildlife are just some highlights of this vibrant, beautiful city.

Skagway, Alaska

Gateway to the Klondike, with highlights including White Summit Pass and the cable Yukon Suspension Bridge. The gold rush coastal town of Skagway, Alaska, was previously a lawless Wild West outpost.

Tracy Arm Fjord, Alaska (Cruise-by)

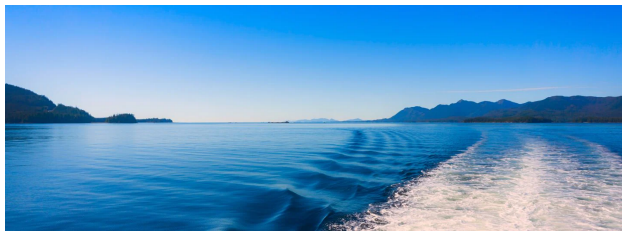

Sail to the towering peaks at the entrance to Tracy Arm, in the southeastern strip of Alaska. Experience nature at its most unspoiled and compelling while you explore parts of the largest temperate rainforest in the world: Tongass National Forest.

Juneau, Alaska

Often called Alaska's most scenic city, Juneau is nature's playground. Waters abound with Humpbacks and Orcas, forested trails leading to snow-ensconced mountains, and the ever-present majestic eagles circling overhead. The town that kick-started Alaska's gold rush is rich with treasures of all varieties, from native Tlingit history and excellent seafood to an abundance of outdoor pursuits.

Ketchikan, Alaska

Tiny Ketchikan is just three miles long and three blocks wide, but here you can be sure to find Alaska's busiest waterfront buzzing with boat planes, fishing boats, pleasure craft, and busy fishermen. Once colonized by Tlingit and Haida tribes, Ketchikan is a thriving fishing town with colorful stilted houses, a rich Alaskan culture and a throng of trawlers hauling in fresh crab and salmon.

Glacier Bay, Alaska

With snow-capped peaks, abundant wildlife and shimmering glaciers, it's no wonder Glacier Bay National Park is the crowning jewel of Alaska's Inside Passage. A Glacier Bay National Park cruise reveals some of the planet's most remarkable tidewater glaciers.

Sitka, Alaska

A city that appears to have sprung up in the most unlikely of locations, Sitka is one of Alaska's most picturesque port calls. Its location celebrates everything that makes this otherworldly US state unique: snow-encrusted mountains, densely forested wilderness and intensely sapphire waters that radiate with glass-like shine.

Victoria, Canada

Nestled on the southern coast of Vancouver Island, British Columbia's capital city, Victoria, is an intoxicating blend of historic streets and Victorian architecture. You'll find a perfect balancing act between old and new, where the legacies left by indigenous populations are imprinted alongside fairy-tale castles and gardens that stay in bloom year-round.
